Jesse Earls' Farm Is Scene Of Farmer's Annual Round-Up

High Tension Wire Kills John Baker

Many citizens of Whitesburg were saddened and grieved on Tuesday of this week when word came that young John Baker, 27, of Hazard, had been electrocuted while at his work for the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Co., in that town. Young Baker was single, living with his widowed mother who, if we are rightly informed, is the widow of the late Attorney Baker of Hazard and John was the brother of Gene Baker, one of Hazard's best known business men. John was also chief linesman for his company.

Charity Emmogene New, age fourteen months, only child of Hardie & Jeanette New, passed peacefully away at the home of its parents in Carbon Glow, Wednesday, April 23rd, after an illness of only a few days. Certainly a beautiful flower has been plucked from the hearts of this young couple.

LOCAL OFFICERS RETURN

Deputy Sheriff Oramus Day and Mayor Bill Collins recently made a trip to Akron, Ohio, to bring back Finley Bird, wanted in Letcher County for the stabbing of Dempsey Amburgey at a Sandlick road house some time ago. When Bird was caught he waived extradition papers and the Sheriff of Letcher County was notified he was ready to return. However, when the Letcher officials appeared there for him he said he had changed his mind, and the officers returned empty handed. Just what steps will be taken to get the fugitive, if any, are not known at this time.

Johnsone, Shearer, Hieronymus Are Chief Speakers; Group selects Officers for Next Year

The second annual county-wide Farmer's Round-Up was held Sunday, May 4 on Jesse Earls' farm with a large group of farmers, their wives and children from several sections of the county. The meeting began with a tour over the farm where the group saw many practices that are being carried out by Mr. Earls on his mountain farm to improve the land.

Mr. W. C. Johnsone, from the University of Kentucky, and several of the farmers made comments on most of the practices Mr. Earls showed us. He has vetch, crimson clover, rye grass, orchard grass, red clover, locust seed bed and strip crop farming on this farm. He is also applying lime and phosphate.

An old fashioned dinner was spread on the ground where everyone are all they cared for. Drinks were donated by Mr. Herman Combs. After dinner the group gathered in the (Continued on back page)

Methodist Church Opens New Sanctuary To Public Worship

The new Methodist Church although not quite completed, was opened for public worship on Sunday, May 4th. A good number was in attendance, which helped to make the opening of the new church a delightful occasion.

The pastor, W. H. Poore, had the honor of preaching the first sermon in the new building, as his text was "What Hath God Wrought," that famous message used by Samuel Morse, the inventor of the telegraph.

Stephen Combs, Jr., gave a very interesting talk, speaking in behalf of the building committee, stating that it was through faith that the building was erected.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock Dr. Paul Shell Powell, President of Kentucky Wesleyan, was the guest speaker. Dr. Powell read from the 19th chapter of St. Luke, using as his text the 10th verse: "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Mrs. Miles E. Moore sang special selections at both morning and evening services. Former pastors who have served the church are:

Annual Father-Son Banquet Held Saturday Evening, May 3rd At Whitesburg High School Auditorium

J. M. Feltner, State Leader For 4-H Clubs, Is Guest Speaker

One of the finest meetings held for some time was that of the Father and Sons for the accustomed annual banquet held Saturday evening, at 6:30 in the auditorium of the High School building at Whitesburg. The number attending was estimated at 200, representing various sections of the county.

A delicious dinner was served by the Home Economics Club, the menu consisting of chicken, dressing, potatoes, beans, salad, rolls, coffee, and apple pie for dessert. String music and singing helped to make the dinner more delightful.

Young Harry Caudill, son of Cro C. Caudill very ably presided over the meeting and after dinner asked the sons to introduce their fathers, when they did; then followed the introduction of guests, several of whom gave short talks. Those speaking for a minute or so were Wilson Fields, former County Agent Clay Colson, Jerry Montgomery and Hugh Hurst.

"God Bless America" was sung followed by invocation by Rev. Geo. T. Sudduth. Mr. J. M. Feltner, 4-H Club leader for the State of Kentucky, was introduced and gave the principal address of the evening. As usual his talk was very instructive and entertaining.

Quoting Mr. Feltner verbatim in substance among his remarks were: "We learn a lot by knowing"; "I am a man today because of the things I learned as a boy." Near the beginning of his address Mr. Feltner asked the fathers if they remembered when they were 21 years old. Using himself as an example, he related that he himself had been called a boy, a pretty young fellow, son, and even a brat after he became 21 years old. Going on, he said, "that is what I am here for tonight, to talk to you fathers about your brats."

Citing Mr. Feltner further, he stated that should he choose as a subject for the evening he would select the topic, LOOK - SAY - ON, and quoting a beautiful story of a father who had three sons who went up on a high mountain in search of a gift to bring to him; the first going to the edge of the vegetation, found a very beautiful flower and took it to his father; the second climbed still higher on the mountain and found a very precious stone, more precious than any he had yet seen; the third son climbed still higher to the very peak of the mountain but came down with nothing. His father, inquiring, the son related that he had climbed to the very highest point and looking out over the vast universe he beheld all the beauty and glory of creation and the wonderful possibilities that lie ahead. This boy pleased his father greatly—he had brought back something more precious—a vision, and he was greatly rewarded.

Again he told a story about a father who was trying to get his son to attend church, and the son asked his father, "Why don't you attend church?" The father replying, said, "Son, I am ESTABLISHED." Later on the father was trying to work a stubborn mule, and not meeting with much success, said, "I don't see what is the trouble with him, where upon the son replied, 'Father, I know what is the matter with him. He's ESTABLISHED.' Again stressing the dignity of labor and citing for example, "A man was lying in his yard trying to write an essay on the dignity of labor. At the time a hired man was using a lawn mower which made a great buzzing noise. Becoming annoyed he said to the hired man, "Don't disturb me. I am trying to write an essay on the dignity of labor." And during this time the real dignity of labor was behind the lawn mower itself.

Mr. Feltner related another beautiful and true story of a youngster who started out in the world without any parents, home or friends, who earned his way by splitting kindling and doing odd jobs. This man was George Peabody, who possessed nothing but a WILL to WORK and a chance to earn his own way in the world. And in closing, Mr. Feltner stated that could he present each boy with the rarest of gifts it would not be money or riches—but that he would fill each one with a WILL TO WORK AND A CHANCE TO DO & ACCOMPLISH SOMETHING WORTHY. Rehabilitation Of Radio Equipment Thru Station WHAS

A complete rehabilitation of the equipment in the University of Kentucky's forty listening centers in South-eastern Kentucky is planned for the near future because of a gift of 38 new battery and two electric radio sets to the University. The gift, made by radio station WHAS, Louisville, as a part of their policy in furthering the University's work in equalizing listening opportunities for those portions of Kentucky remote from radio stations, will enable the University of Kentucky to replace every one of the sets now in use by the new ones of the most modern designs.

The listening center system was started by the University of Kentucky in 1933 for the purpose of providing facilities for listening to educational and other worthwhile broadcasts. While the number of radio receivers in the Kentucky mountains has increased several hundred fold since that date, the centers are still proving their usefulness as focal points for educational listening activities. Last fall a similar system of listening centers was started in eastern Tennessee.

While the number of centers, at the present time, is slightly less than 40, new centers will be established so that bringing the figure up to that number.

Counties containing the centers are Letcher, Leslie, Harlan, Knott, Breathitt, Morgan, Magoffin, Estill, Martin, and Floyd. The new sets will be installed by the University of Kentucky as soon as they are received by station WHAS, which will probably be around the middle of May.

The centers which will probably get the new equipment in Letcher County are located at Carcassonne, Mill Branch, Gilley, Roxana, and Linefork.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lewis have as their guest Mrs. Lewis's mother, Mrs. Lizzie O'Riley of Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson Lewis of Lexington were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maturo.

Minutes of Meeting of Members of Pike-Letcher Forest Fire Protective Association

April 18, 1941.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Pike-Letcher Forest Fire Protective Association was held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 18, 1941, in the Pike Fish and Game Room at the Jefferson Hotel, Pikeville, Ky., and those present were: Chairman S. E. Looney, Dr. O. W. Thompson, Mr. L. C. Skeen representing Eastern Coal Corp., Mr. Hobart Tucker, Mr. S. H. Marsh and Mr. Crosby as government representatives; Dr. W. J. Walters, Mr. H. W. Berckman representing the Division of Forestry, Mr. J. M. Morris, Mr. N. R. Day, Mr. Alonzo Ford, Mr. Willie Raliff, Mr. W. J. Collins, Mr. Clyde Childers, Mr. Jerry Francisco, and Mr. J. M. Wright.

Meeting was called to order by Chairman Looney at 7:30 p.m. Minutes of the last two meetings were read and as there were no objections or corrections the minutes stood as read. Topics for discussion were:

(1) Ways and means of getting 100 per cent cooperation from the timberland owners. (2) Allotment of work to Directors and representative districts, and; (3) Methods of Fire Prevention best suited to Pike-Letcher Counties.

Chairman Looney recommended that the members vote on another Member of the Board, preferable a member from the Elkhorn City section. Dr. Thompson suggested that the point be taken up at the next meeting after the several members recommended were viewed. Dr. Thompson's suggestion was made into a motion and seconded by Mr. C. L. Skeen and passed.

The question of education along Fire Control lines was brought up and a suggestion was offered that by means of advertising Fire Prevention & Fire Control that the number of fires could be reduced. Dr. Thompson talked with Mr. McConnell and asked that the CCC Camps construct eight precaution signs, these to be placed at various points on greatly traveled highways.

Chairman Looney raised the subject of the Protective Association being handicapped by the lack of funds. This led to a lengthy discussion by all members as to ways and means of raising funds. Dr. Walters suggested that the Legislature be asked for an appropriation for Fire Control. The members were advised at that point by Mr. Hoar that in order to obtain money from the Government for such a project as Fire Protection, the State must contribute dollar for dollar. This has not been done in the past because the State could not raise the money.

The subject of prosecution for anyone setting a forest fire was brought up by Chairman Looney. This matter was discussed pro and con but nothing definite was recorded, although a lot of valuable information and suggestions were received and agreed upon by all members.

(1) Dr. Thompson suggested that the Sheriff be called upon and demanded to prosecute all offenders.

(2) It was also suggested that the Circuit Judge instruct the Grand Jury to indict such persons that were brought before them.

The subject of prosecution was slated to be discussed at a greater length at the next meeting.

Dr. Thompson read an editorial from the Pike County News, titled "Here and There". This being a Resolution made by the Pikeville Chapter of Daughters of American Revolution to see that parties caught setting fires are given the due process of law. This organization is to be commended for their efforts in regard to civic improvements, civic welfare and co-operative ability. Certainly with an organization such as this boosting what we, the members of the Pike-Letcher Association, are trying to build up for the future, we should pass a resolution to endorse everything said by the DAR's in their editorial. Dr. Thompson further stated that a letter should be sent them expressing our appreciation. Chairman Looney approved Dr. Thompson's suggestions and stated that a resolution would be drawn up and sent them.

Mr. Skeen expressed his appreciation to the CCC and the State Forestry Service for the cooperation given them during the fire season. Chairman Looney expressed appreciation from the Consolidation Coal Company for services rendered on their property.

Mr. Morris and Mr. Hoar, representing the Government, gave very interesting talks as well as some valuable information. Statistics were given comparing forest fires for the past five years. On an average forest fires have decreased considerably due to increased efforts made by the National and State governments as well as local organizations. It was suggested that the comparative 5-year figures be published in order to let timberland owners see the growth of protective associations in this region. Also the valuable work accomplished in reducing forest fires.

In 1931 to 1935 there were 790,200 acres under protection; 3.35 per cent burned, at a cost of $24.07. Cost of suppression of these fires was $9.08 per acre. In the years 1936 to 1940 there were 1,037,000 acres under protection and 2.54 per cent burned at a cost of $28.27. Cost of suppression of these fires was $6.48 per acre.

CCC cost not included in statement figures.

It was suggested that the next meeting be held two or three weeks after the Fire season closes. Date of meeting to be set by Chairman Looney. Dr. Thompson made the motion that the meeting be adjourned and same was seconded by Dr. Walters. Motion approved by Chairman Looney and meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock p.m. to meet again the latter part of May, 1941.

Government Seeks More Defense Food

N. R. Day, Dawson Dixon, Watson Webb and the County Agriculture Agent attended a meeting at Quicksand, Tuesday, April 29, to hear an explanation of the government's program to increase food production in the interests of national defense and aid for Great Britain and other nations opposing the Axis nations.

Farmers are asked to increase the production of hogs, dairy and poultry products, and such vegetables as tomatoes for canning, peas, beans, and sweet corn. Prices of these products are to be supported by government buying so farmers may be assured of a market.

Better feeding of hogs, milk cows and chickens is urged, so that production may be increased at once. It is suggested that hogs be fed to heavier weights, that cows be better fed so they will produce more milk and that an effort be made to produce more eggs.

Wildlife Kidnappers

Those people who are making fishing, camping or hiking trips into the woods and fields are requested, by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to leave the young animals in their native abodes instead of picking them up to bring them back to town with you.

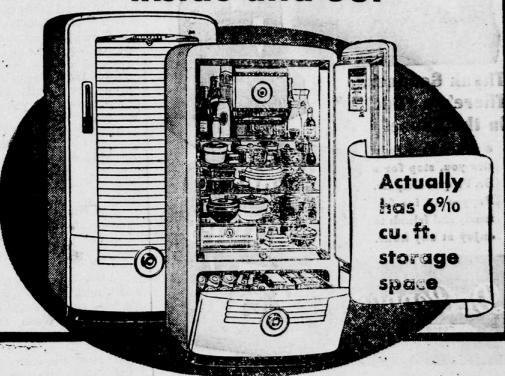

No more than most human mothers do the native parents of wildlife babies like to have their infants fondled or kidnapped by any one, especially by persons who know nothing about the care and feeding of children. Wakefield pointed out. With many of the choice outdoor areas over the State being used by picnickers and fishing parties, some persons, will almost without any effort on their part find young birds and animals. Some of these people may believe they are doing a kindness in capturing the creatures because they appear to have been abandoned. Usually, however, these babies are no more than the infant that crawls at its bed and over the floor to a place behind a chair, as the parent bird or animal likely is off foraging for food, like human babies, the young disobeys and wanders. The parents will return and take much better care of them than would any human.

If the young animals or birds are taken by picnickers, hunters, fishermen, or any other person, permission from the Division of Game and Fish WILL NOT be granted in order to keep them and if any person is caught with such animals or birds in possession he or she is liable to arrest and fine. The only way wild game can be secured is by purchasing same from a person who has a propagating permit to rear wild birds and animals in captivity to sell.

made to produce more eggs. The number of chicks is asked. Eggs, milk and other products will be sent to Britain in dried form, so shipping space can be conserved. Also unlimited quantities of tomatoes are wanted for canning. It was stated at the meeting.

The State College of Agriculture, through its extension service, is conducting a campaign in every county to encourage bigger and better gardens this season. Families are urged to enlarge their garden space and grow more vegetables of all kinds, not only for immediate use but for canning and storing for next winter.

Statement from

TO THE CITIZENS AND VOTERS OF LETCHER COUNTY:

This is to announce to you my candidacy for the office of County Court Clerk, to be voted for as an Independent candidate at the regular November election, 1941.

For thirty-five years I was a miner in Eastern Kentucky, working at various mines during said time. Fourteen years ago while working at the face of the mines at Marion Coal Company in this county, I had the misfortune of losing the entire sight of both eyes, and since that time I have been groping about in the darkness, trying to earn an honest living for myself and my family. Now I am appealing to the voters of this county for their support in my race for the office of County Court Clerk. I promise you upon my word of honor that if elected to this office I will employ only honest, efficient deputies to work for me, and people who will extend every courtesy you have a right to expect.

As time passes on I expect to have more to say with regard to the policies I expect to put into effect in case of my election to this office. In the meantime, I assure you I shall appreciate anything you may do to promote my candidacy.

Sincerely yours,

Clifton Cole

Problems of Today

—BY MYRNA—

Dear Myrna: My husband thinks that the United States should enter the war at once. I believe with most people that we must remain neutral, but arm to the teeth so that no combination of powers can defeat us. I think it is not our war, yet my husband seems to want our boys to get into it. Can he possibly be right?

A MOTHER.

ANSWER: We Americans have grown soft because it has not been necessary for us for several generations to fight for our privileges. Therefore, we think of perpetual domestic peace with complacency.

Our forebears wrestled our present territory from the French, Spanish, Mexicans, Indians, and from those who would disrupt the Union. The present World War with the gradual elimination of weaker, non-warlike nations by might alone, reminds us of the situation which confronted the early settlers. Their settlements, upon hearing of the Indian uprising, select an attacking party which would pick the battle ground, the time of attack, and by surprise, defeat the enemy. Of course, many white men were killed, but the settlement was saved. These tactics, I assume, are those recommended by your husband.

On the other hand, the combined strength of the Indians looting upon each settlement separately would have allowed the Indians to choose their own time, place and condition of attack. They in turn could have defeated each settlement by shooting burning arrows onto the houses, causing fires, curtailing water and food transfer and in time destroying the whites.

Your problem is America's problem. Our experts disagree as to the best method to retain our liberties. The question now is, should we fight with Allied help, or alone? That question must be intelligently answered by our government for our best interests, regardless of what individuals may think, for we, the average citizens, are not in possession of all the facts.

MYRNA.

Periodic distress, such as headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, so often helped by CARDUI. By increasing appetite, stimulating flow of gastric juices and so assisting digestion, it helps to relieve resistance to periodic discomfort. It also helps reduce periodic distress for many who take it a few days before and during "the time." Try CARDUI. Used 50 years.

Those qualifying will be enrolled as Apprentice Seamen in the Commission's Radio Training School at Gallipoli Island, Boston harbor. They will be paid $21. per month.

After three months satisfactory work in the training course, they will be advanced to Seaman Second Class at $26. per month. After six months satisfactory work, they will be advanced to Seaman Third Class at $35. per month.

JENKINS NEWS

By BURDINE WEBB

From a small pimple on her lip, Mrs. Basil Adkins, good woman of Rockhouse, developed blood poisoning and has been a patient in the Jenkins City Hospital for nearly a week, a very sick woman. However, some improvement was seen in Mrs. Adkins' condition this week, we are glad to report. Hospital attendants have hopes now that Mrs. Adkins will go through all right.

Sympathies are expressed here for H. L. Owens, our popular citizen who suffered the loss, by death, of his dear mother, Mrs. Harriet Owens, 78, of Norton. She was one of the best loved women of the Norton area. Extensive funeral rites were held Friday for the aged woman, services being held at Wise, former home of Mrs. Owens, Rev. C. H. Williams of the Methodist Church led in the services.

Last week we reported the very serious illness of Clifford Holland, McRoberts, son of Greeley Holland, as a result of an operation for ruptured appendix. For some time it seemed that Holland could not stem the tide and get through, but to the glad surprise of his many friends, Clifford is now doing nicely, and unless unforeseen complications come he will soon be a well man, and with the family in McRoberts.

It has been announced that American Legion awards will be presented to the most outstanding students, based on citizenship, scholarship, leadership, character, etc. of the Jenkins school. These will test the super qualities of a number of our boys and girls, soon to be leaders in the walks of life.

Students, put your best efforts forward and march. Be sure you win.

One Brother—
One Country??

I used to bandage up the toes and fingers, cut and bruised; We'd manufacture injuries. And loads of rags were used. We'd rip the hems right off the sheets

And tiny scratches cover, I'd tear up Grand Ma's wedding veil To bandage up my brother. That dirty, tear-stained little face. That freckled little nose, That pitiful expression. As he told of all his woes. I'd tear the stars down from the sky

To make things right again. To bring a smile upon the face That was so full of pain. I'd turn cart-wheels; stand on my head And come down with a bang If only he'd stop crying. And he would! His laughter rang; All through the years I've been close by In case he needed me, Ah, little boy, you're now a man—

Yet always will I see You reaching out and crying While I'd kneel and fix the toe; And now I'm almost ready, No matter where you go; If Uncle Sam has need of you The act I'll never curse; O're wasted battle-fields I'll look, Again you'll need a nurse.

How Did The Indians Get Leather For Their Moccasins?

Moccasins are made of buckskin, which is obtained from the hide of the deer. Tanning the buckskin was a long and complicated process for the Indians.

First, the deer hide was soaked in a stream for about four weeks, dried, and the hair removed. Then it was washed in water and specially treated, dried for another four weeks, and again soaked about twelve hours in water before being stretched on poles. There it was scraped with a rock to make it soft and pliable.

The final process of smoking the buckskin to get the proper color was an art in itself. The leather, soft, strong, and durable, was then ready to be made into moccasins for the brave, squaw or papoose.

Who Designed The Flag Of Alaska?

Benny Benson, a 13-year-old school boy, designed the flag of Alaska in 1927. In that year the American Legion in Alaska launched a flag-design contest, and of the 142 designs submitted, to the 8th Territorial Legislature in Juneau, that by Benny Benson was adopted. This flag has a blue field bordered on three sides with a strip of gold, bearing on the field gold stars representing the North Star in the upper right corner, and the Great Bear constellation of seven stars below and to the left, with two right stars of the "Dipper" pointing to the North Star.

The Legislature sent Benny to Washington to present the first flag to President Calvin Coolidge.

How Old Is The Custom Of May Poles and May Queens?

Our May Day Festival, so far as is known, dates back to the days when the Romans held a festival to Flora, goddess of flowers.

It is said that during the Middle Ages, on May 1 all classes of people, even members of the court, would go "a-Maying" early in the morning and gather fresh flowers with which to crown the fairest maid of the village "Queen of the May."

Nearly every town and village had a May pole on which wreaths of flowers were hung, and around which the young and the old danced.

The Puritans denounced the May poles and May dances, and Parliament, in 1644, forbade them. But with the Restoration under Charles II they were resumed.

What Town Has The State Line
In The Center Of Its Main Business Section?

Bristol, Virginia-Tennessee, is the largest community in the United States located directly upon a state line, the line between the two states and the two cities running in the center of its main business street. During the Dogwood Festival held each year, the Governors of Virginia and Tennessee lead the parade down State Street, both in one car, yet each in his own State.

Five times a line was surveyed to determine the dividing line between Virginia and Tennessee. The quarrel over this line lasted for 200 years, and it was not until 1903 that the matter was settled. Brass markers in the middle of State Street now definitely mark the state and city lines.

What Is Some Of The History Of Bristol, Va.-Tenn.?

Bristol was originally known as Sapling Grove. For years it was a trading post where the frontiersmen, including Daniel Boone, bartered skins for powder and lead. In 1771 in an old stockade built by Col. Evan Shelby, was planned the campaign which resulted in the defeat of the British in the famous battle of King's Mountain, in 1780.

In 1749, 1946 acres were surveyed at Sapling Grove. Of these, 348 acres were sold to Col. John Goodson, who laid out the town of Goodson, now Bristol, Virginia. Later, 100 acres of the original land was purchased by J. R. Anderson for the town of Bristol, Tenn., name after Bristol, England.

What Is A "Fool Hen"?

The Franklin Grouse is known in the Western States as the "fool" hen. It is much smaller than a chicken, is dark brown, barred with black, and has an orange line over the eye. It lives on spruce and tamarack leaves, grass-hoppers and wild berries.

This is a very peculiar bird, chiefly because of its indifference to danger. If met on a path it will quietly step aside. However, if in a tree, it will ignore stones thrown at it and remain there until hit. They are edible and provide a good meal.

Misses Lovell Ison, Rosemarie Zimmerman and Fay Allen will spend the week-end in Lexington at the home of Miss Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moxley have moved from the Collins-Harvie Addition to the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Sloan and will occupy the same, while the Sloans are away in Fort Jackson, S. C.

MAINTAINING Telephone Service Standards

As America girds for national defense, the Southern Bell Company's aim is not only to meet the increasing telephone demands of government and industry, but to continue rendering high quality service to the individual user.

Despite the necessity for training numerous new employees, and caring for a record increase in telephones and volume of calls, the service has generally continued at a high standard. Telephone men and women are continuing to furnish friendly, helpful and technically efficient service.

These trained and experienced workers and their management are accustomed to working together and to planning ahead under conditions imposed by emergencies.

The workers, while meeting the rapidly expanding defense telephone requirements, are caring for the needs of the individual user in every way they can under existing conditions. The telephone organization is doing its best to see that during these times of national emergency you continue to derive the greatest possible advantages from your use of the service.

HIGH TRIBUTE IS PAID TO MOTHERS

In Honoring Mothers We Pay Tribute To Ourselves And Testify To Our Ideals, Thus Coming To Realize That Only The Voiceless Speak Forever.

The following Mother's Day speech was once delivered in the United States Senate by a former senator. We feel it will be interesting and beneficial to our readers to repeat at this time since next Sunday, May 11, is "Mother's Day."

"Centuries ago a discerning philosopher discovered that 'the pearl is the image of purity, but woman is purer than the pearl.' Homer five hundred years later immortalized mother in the proud description: 'She moves like a goddess and she looks like a queen.' In all human thought there is not a nobler, higher, finer ideal than the word, 'Mother.' In every age it has gardened the earth with blossoms of love—the flowers of heaven. Motherhood is the salvation or the destruction of the race, carrying as it does the destinies of mankind in the folds of its mantle.

"A GREAT THINKER, in thoughts divine, from his scholar's soul, tells us thus: 'When Eve was brought unto Adam, he became filled with the Holy Spirit, and gave her the most sanctified, the most glorified of appellations. He called her Eve, that is to say, Mother of All. He did not style her wife, but simply mother of all living creatures. In this consists the glory and the most precious ornament of woman.'

"How beautiful and how inspiringly true. Never can we forget our noble, sainted mothers. On the blue mountains of our dim childhood, toward which we ever turn and gaze, stand today the angelic mothers who marked out to us from whence our course should be and how our lives should be lived. And Shakespeare sees her:

"So pure and sweet, her fair brow seemed eternal as the sky. And like the brooks love song, her voice, A sound that could not die.

"She made life a heaven here because she believed in and taught the gospel of cheerfulness, love, happiness. She loved the poor, the helpless, she suffered for truth, sympathy, intellectual and moral liberty. She gave her best, the sunshine of an earnest, honest, gifted soul, for the good of others. She lived and she lives for home, family and country, with a devotion that transcends words. She loved the victims of toil and want. She pitied and she abhorred deceit. She hated falsehood in any form, and she gave always without expecting return what she claimed or exacted from others. She lived her principles and looked always with forgiving tender eyes upon our failings. She beguiled our grief with soothing care, and mended our broken hopes with caressing promises of sweet reward. Always she was positive without severity and firm without arrogance. She taught us courage, intelligence, and integrity. She taught our helpless lips to lisp the blessing that came to them from her heart, her body and her soul. She reared us to know and feel that life is to live and love, those who love us here:

"Thou art thy mother's glass and she in thee Calls back the lovely April of her prime."

"And may the gratitude of our lives ever mirror her image, and reflect her divinity.

"She led me first to God: Her words and prayers were my young spirit's dew— For when she used to leave The fireside every eve, I knew it was for prayer that she withdrew."

"She enriched mankind with Grace Supreme. She was an angel of charity, and always busy beyond her strength and her means. Yes, how cheerful she was as she moved among us, and knowing that her influence was a power in trust, she builded for posterity. She looked the good and all the world while loved her. She taught us to think and to know that the home was merely a miniature of the larger world outside. She made the hearthstone sacred, and forgetting self, she sought favors only for those she served. She was free. No evil could bribe or intimidate her soul, and she knew no fear, except the fear of doing wrong. Ever in honoring our mothers we pay a tribute to ourselves, and testify to our ideals. We come to realize that only the voiceless speak forever and that from her fair and unpolished flesh violets spring and blossom, perfuming the world with joy and peace and love.

"A mother's love, how sweet the name, What is a mother's love? A noble, pure and tender flame Enkindled from above, To bless a heart of earthly mold; The warmest love that can grow cold; That is a mother's love."

"If we would know our mother, her life, her heart, her motives, the depth and the tenderness of her sympathy, the nobleness of her nature, the beauty of her spirit, and the splendid integrity of her stainless soul, we must go stand by her grave, and let the memories of childhood surge and resurge through the mind. She will come back in all the dignity and the grace of her blessed perfection. She will come back so kind, so beautiful, so gentle, so holy, with that smile which will ever be to us our first glimpse of God and love, as she scattered the seeds of faith that we might reap the golden grain of spiritual strength and moral growth.

How often has the thought brought Of my mourn'd mother, Peace to my troubled spirit, The tempter to repel. Mother, thou knowest well That thou hast blest me since my natal hour.

"A mother's love is but the moral expression of the Spirit of God. It is God in the hearts and on the lips of little children. It comes from eternity because it has always existed. The inanimate cannot produce the animate any more than the insensate can produce the sensate. If it is impossible, and it is, to conceive of a finite result without a cause, how can the human mind accept an infinite effect, and view it as causeless?

"In deed a mother's love is the golden link that binds youth to age, and he is still a child, however time may have furrowed his cheek or silvered brow, who can yet recall with a softened heart the fond devotion or the gentle chidings of the best friend that God gave this earth.

"Her faith and her confidence endures forever, in good or in bad repute, and ever recalling the smiles that filled her heart with pride, and the confident generous promises of youth, she still loves on, and hopes that her child may turn from evil, and be what she intended and hoped in her agony of travail and prayer.

"Would, Mother, you could hear me tell How oft amid my brief career, For sins and follies I'd too well, Have fallen the free repentant tear. And in the waywardness of youth, How bitter thoughts have given to me Contempt for error, love for truth, Mid sweet remembrances of thee.

"A father may turn his back on his child, brothers and sisters may become inveterate enemies, husbands desert their wives, and wives their husbands. This we know. But the irrepressible and indestructible affections of her who at her own peril went down into the valley of the shadows of death to give us immortal life will abide with us until we also go down into the same valley and feel again the clasp of her waiting hand and go with her into the Eden of that eternity, where never again shall we feel or see the dust and the glare of an earthly day.

In this gracious presence, at this hour and place, may we not indulge the perfect hope, that America, as she stands beneath the haven of a mother's eyes will, with a reverent and sublime, remember as an evidence of her faith who enriched all mankind, and gave us flesh and blood, the pulse and the breath of the great and the only living God. No work is so high, so noble, so grand so enduring, so important for all time as the making of a character in a little child. Yes if all of a mother's sacrifices to sorrow, sin and pain could be charged into the melodies of her heart, a symphony would fill the sky.

91 YEARS of PROGRESS

A Historical Tour of the Louisville & Nashville R.R.

Southward Expansion

RECONSTRUCTION days following the Civil War were troubled ones and several L. & N. trains were robbed or wrecked. The road was looking forward, however, and invested $300,000 in a railroad bridge across the Ohio River at Louisville.

By acquiring two roads, the L. & N. reached Memphis in October, 1872; by construction it reached Richmond, Ky., in November, 1868, and Livingston, Ky., in September, 1870; and by acquisition of the Nashville and Decatur and the South and North Alabama railroads, and the completion of a 40-mile stretch on the S. & N. A. through the site of Birmingham, it reached Montgomery, Ala., in September, 1872.

Most important was the line to Montgomery. It resulted in the founding of Birmingham and the development of the vast mineral area in that district.

The L. & N. spent large sums of money in the 1870's to attract industries and settlers to Northern and Central Alabama. Cullman is one of the towns which owes its origin to this colonization policy.

In the early 70's the L. & N. began the purchase and construction of a number of coal-burning locomotives to replace its wood-burners. Engine No. 29, or the "Southern Belle," designed by Thatcher Perkins, of the L. & N., and constructed in the L. & N. shops at Louisville in 1871, was the first locomotive built south of the Ohio.

PROGRESSIVE railroad even 70 years ago was the L. & N. Looking to the future it extended its lines to where they were most needed. Its policy of colonization has been continued and now a complete department is maintained to make lands of the South profitable by bringing new settlers to L. & N. territory; to furnish dependable information and otherwise assist those seeking new locations or expansion; and to give sound advice and practicable demonstrations of efficient methods in agriculture without cost.

shade on a field of vetch where the heard some interesting speeches.

The former County Agent, Clay A. Colson, former Vocational Agriculture Teacher Jerry Montgomery, the Perry County farm agent Allington Crase, Superintendent of Schools Watson Webb, Mount raised farmer Dr. B. F. Wright, and the present Vocational Agriculture teacher, Mr. Jerry Johnson, all made short talks regarding improvement of our mountain land.

The principal speakers of the day were Mr. T. M. Shearer, State AAA Committeeman, who was introduced by Mr. N. R. Day, Letcher County A.C.P. Chairman, Mr. W. S. Hieronymus, District R. R. Supervisor, who was introduced by Mr. C. C. Moxley, Faria Security Administrator, and Mr. W. C. Johnstone from the agronomy department, University of Kentucky.

Mr. Shearer complimented the Letcher County agencies for their splendid cooperation and also explained the part the farmers are taking in the defense program. He urged each farmer to grow more hogs, to raise more chickens for meat and eggs, to grow more vegetables and to produce more dairy products. He stated that these farm products were in demand now by England.

Mr. Hieronymus explained how the Farm Security Administration is helping to low-income farmer to get back on his feet.

Mr. Johnstone gave a summary of some of the things mountain farmers are doing to improve the soil. He stressed the fact that we need more grass, more clovers, more lime and phosphate and more cattle on our steep slopes.

The officers elected to be in charge of next year's Round Up are Byron Hunsucker, as President; Dr. B. F. Wright, Treasurer, and the County Agent, Secretary. Next year's Round-Up will be held on some farm the committee selects as having the most improved practices recommended for Eastern Kentucky for improving the farm.

A Word of Thanks

We wish to thank all the friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the hour of sadness on Monday, April 21, 1941 when the Death Angel visited our home and took away our father whom we loved dearly.

Frank Adams, as he was well known by his name, was loving and kind to all whom he met, especially his children to whom he was always cheerful and kind.

For the last few years Dad had lived a devoted, Christian life. We will miss him here around the old home place. When we went home we always found him tottering about the place, but his footsteps are silent now. He had been sick for the last eight or nine months with a heart ailment but he bore his sickness with great patience. He told Andrew and me one night, not long before he went away, that he realized that he had to die but he was ready; that he was just waiting until Jesus saw fit to call him and I feel like he fell asleep in the arms of Jesus, sleeping that sweet and slumber-like sleep that God has for those that are his.

We want to especially thank Mr. and Mrs. Press Blair for their kind and thoughtful help. We pray that God will bestow many blessing upon them and their children as they go along through this journey of life.

We know that all the friends and neighbors will miss Dad as he was always gentle, kind and cheerful to all whom he met in his old fashioned way.

We feel that if he could speak he would say, "Come on up, children, to the city where there is no trouble, no sickness or sorrow; where joy and peace abide forever."

These remarks and many others made an excellent address for the occasion and we feel everyone present will profit through having attended. At one point in his address he advised the boys to investigate and see who made those good pies. Sounds like a good idea, young fellows.

After the address of Mr. Feltner, three F.F.A. boys were introduced—Ullis Hunsucker speaking of F. F. A. Field Day, showing beautiful plaques and trophies which were displayed; Donald Froese speaking on "Co-Operative" and Vernon Banks gave a talk on "Supervised Farming."

Mr. Jerry Johnson, F.F.A. Supervisor, awarded prizes to the following students: for outstanding achievements: Buford Back, Harry Caudill, Burnis Banks, Vernon Banks and Tommy Gish.

The loving cup which is awarded annually by George Stewart of the Johnson Funeral Home, went to Ullis Hunsucker, who had the best farm practice program. Mr. Johnson introduced Mr. Stewart who awarded the trophy. Just before awarding the trophy Mr. Stewart gave a very fine and beautiful talk and read a selected poem dealing with Germanism, Russianism, and Americanism, which made us all feel proud to be "AN AMERICAN."

Mr. Johnson also stated that other boys had been close contenders for the coveted prize, and outlined their achievements. At the close the girls were cheered and applauded for their preparing of such a fine meal; "Auld Lang Syne" was sung by all and Rev. Moore dismissed with a benediction.

Recent visitors on the campus were two of "our boys" who are now in the Army—Carl Shepherd, of Fort Knox, Ky., and Corporal Denver Back, of Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

On Tuesday evening, May 29, two plays, "Deferred Proposal," and "The Red Lamp," were presented in the auditorium by members of the Dramatics Club under the direction of their sponsor, Rev. J. Howard Macrae, who was assisted by Miss Frances Johnson. These plays were among the very best ever presented at Stuart Robinson school, and were thoroughly enjoyed by a large audience.

Between the plays, the Recitation-Declaration club which is sponsored by Mrs. J. M. Phillips, entertained the audience with a very amusing playlet, "Just Looking," and two well-rendered recitations, "Aunt Ann and the Auto," by Wilma Deane Stricklin, and "Little Brother," by Junior Stricklin.

A number of visitors were on the campus Friday to enjoy Field Day. There was strong competition between the Arcadian and Adelphean Literary Societies in the various events—fifty yard dash, hundred-yard dash, relay, three-legged, potato, and sack races, standing broad jump, running broad jump, soft ball, tennis, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knox and their two lovely little daughters, Betty and Allyce, of Gray, Georgia, and Mr. S. A. Knox, of Bristol, Virginia were week-end guests of Mrs. R. J. Knox and Arthur Knox.

Plans for commencement are occupying much of our time just now. Preceding commencement proper, the Juniors are entertaining the Seniors at a banquet on Tuesday evening, May 8. Later will come the music recital May 15, the faculty banquet for Seniors on May 16, the

"HE SAVES MOST NOW WHO SPENDS ENOUGH"

There's a rule for your guidance you may not find in the copybooks—but that doesn't subtract one whit from its truth.

Because when you buy a new car this spring you want one that will see you through many a summer.

So while you're trading it's good sense to trade up—up to something solidly good through and through.

Trade up, for instance, to the FIREBALL power of Buick's more efficient valve-in-head straight-eight.

Trade up to the thrift of Compound Carburetion—exclusively Buick's, and as much as 10% to 15% more economical of gasoline than last year.

Trade up to a splendid big Body by Fisher—to Buick's all-coil springing that is forever cushiony yet forever free from service attention—to stout, ride-steady torque-tube drive with nothing about it to go wrong. Buick's bodies are roomier, its frames huskier—its steering gears go three to four times as long without adjustment and its main bearings have half-again the service life in them.

Things like that really count these days—yet they're yours in a Buick for a trifle more at most than you'd spend in any event.
